New Yorkers One Run Behind and With Man on Base When the Yankee First Baseman Sends the Ball to Right Center, Deciding the Contest

By W. O. McGeehan

They used to call him Pipp the Pickler, but there was no apparent reason for the monicker this season until yesterday at the Polo Grounds. With the Yanks one run behind and one man on base, Pipp cracked a ball to the right center corner of the lot. The Pickler-to give him the title he regained yesterday-dashed around the four corners like a Nova Scotia moose that had seen Irvin S. Cobb for the first time, and drove in another run ahead of him, making the final score Yankees 4, Cleveland 3.

It was a subdued crowd and a sub-? dued band of baseball players that appeared at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The shadow of hig league baseball's first tragedy could not be shaken off. The shadow of big league baseball's first tragedy could not be shaken off. Flags at the place were half-masted and the players of both teams wore mourning bands in memory of Ray Chapman, fatally injured there Monday. The game, the pennant race and all the things that seemed vital when this series opened suddenly seemed petty and futile.

The Indians played without Tris Speaker, who had left for Cleveland to be present at the funeral of his dead friend and teammate. Chapman's place at bat was taken by Wambsganss, and his place in the field was taken by Lunte, the recruit who went in when Chapman was fatally hurt.

When Wambsganss came up for the first time there was a hush in the park. Everybody recalled the tragedy of Monday. Then there was a little applause. The crowd vaguely tried to express the wish that the Cleveland team would not suffer by the loss of the dead player.

Herzog, another baseball player, for life, seems decidedly out of place.

According to The Associated Press, Umpires Evans and Dinneen issued a statement which said in part: "No pitcher in the American League resorted to trickery more than Carl Mays in attempting to rough a ball in order to get a break on it which would make it more difficult to hit." Is this a crime? It is the business of baseball pitchers to make baseballs more difficult to hit.

The protest of Philadelphia arose from the following play:

One man out, Stengel on second and Fletcher on first. Wrightstone hit a high fly back of short which Umpire Harrison ruled an infield fly and declared the batsman out. Left Fielder Burns, apparently not hearing the umpire, made an attempt to trap the ball, Bancroft moving out of his way. The ball fell to the ground, Stengel advancing to third. Then I work in Babe Ruth or Jos Jackson, Although Ted Ray or Tilden will do, And I sign it, with great satisfaction, And send it to you.

Cleveland, with a great manager and a fine ball club, has again found the value of pitching through her lack of winning stars. She has found that two men can hardly carry on a complete championship fight. Cleveland has had to bank upon Bagby and Coveleskie, where the White Sox had Cicotte, Williams, Kerr and Faber, and where the Yanks had Shawkey, Quinn, Mays, Collins, Thormahlen and others. One thing or another has wrecked Cleveland's pennant hopes for thirty years. If she loses this time it will be through the lack of one more winning pitcher. Led by Speaker, team batting around .310, she has had everything else.

Both the Giants and the White Sox spend the better part of the last month at home. Both have pitching staffs in fine condition to go the route. If Cleveland, the Yanks, Cincinnati and Brooklyn hope to get in it will only be by the tallest hustling they have in stock to the end of the race.

Team May Attend Funeral

It is probable that the entire Cleveland baseball team will be brought here from New York to attend the funeral. It is scheduled to play in Boston Friday, but it would be possible to postpone the contest and play it as part of a double header Monday. President James C. Dunn and Manager Tris Speaker will decide on this to-morrow. A large crowd of friends and admirers was at the depot when Chapman's body reached here this morning. It was removed to an undertaker's morgue and this afternoon taken to the home of his wife's payents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin B. Daily. Mrs. Chapman, accompanied by her parents, Manager Speaker and Joe Wood, of the Indians, and several others, was on the same train and went direct to her home. She is bearing up bravely.

James Johnson and U. R. Johnson, Chapman's uncles, arrived to-day from Owensboro, Ky., but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Everett Chapman, of Herrin, Ill., will not arrive until to-morrow morning.

Hundreds of messages of condolence were received to-day from all parts of the country. Among them were telegrams from Governor James M. Cox and B. B. Johnson, president of the American League. Mr. Johnson declared he would attend the funeral and would receive a report of the accident from Tris Speaker.

President Dunn of the Indians arrived here to-day.

Fifteen thousand men, women and children to-night had contributed ten cents each to the "Flower from a Fan" fund, started by a local paper. The campaign will be continued to-morrow. It has been decided to use about one-third of the contributions for a floral design, and the balance will be placed in another fund, which is being raised to erect a memorial for Chapman at League Park.

Yesterday's bargain bell sure brought some crowd!

A Sale of 8799 suits. however, is no one-day affair, and, as usual, some of the biggest prizes were overlooked in the first grand scramble.

No chance for a recount. So we repeat yesterday's
